BUCK RECALL MOVEMENT DROPPED

FLOWER GROWERS OF REDWOOD CITY START SHIPMENT OF BLOOMS

Fifth Carload of Chrysanthemums Shipped From Here Yesterday for Delivery To Eastern Points

Starting fully a month before the normal time for such shipments, the local office of the American Railway Express Company has been handling carload lots of chrysanthemum blooms for the past three weeks. The first shipment was made on July 27, and yesterday the fifth carload of blooms was sent from here for delivery at eastern points.

S. W. Wells, local agent of the express company says that while the crop of flowers will be less than last year, a greater number of shipments will be made by growers here.

The chrysanthemum industry is one of the largest in the county and last year formed the greater part of the $10,000,000 flower crop of the county.

Formerly the greatest shipment of these flowers was made in time for their arrival at New Orleans in time for the All Saints' Madri Gras on October 25. Now, however, the regular shipment of these flowers to supply the eastern market has become so great that it has overshadowed the shipment to New Orleans in October, and the latter has become only a part of the season's shipment.

San Mateo county flowers are known throughout the nation and are always in demand when the finest blooms are required at special occasions. The historic All-Saints' Day festival and madro gras in New Orleans is still one of the largest single users of San Mateo county grown chrysanthemums, and there were shipped to New Orleans from here last year eight car loads of the largest blooms grown here.

The eight cars formed a special train. The big blooms are packed in strong cardboard boxes and average 12,500 blooms to the car. This was a part of a $10,000,000 crop of flowers which was produced by this county during the year. The Redwood City express office last year shipped a total of 105 car loads of chrysanthemums. In addition to this amount, many of the flowers are shipped to San Francisco by truck and sent out from there. Iced refrigerator cars are used in the transportation of the flowers, and with careful packing and sufficient icing, the flowers are received in eastern cities in as fresh a condition as that in which they leave the vast flower fields of this county.

San Mateo county is accounted one of the finest locations in the world for the culture of this particular flower, which was introduced here from Japan. The large blooms so much in demand at the New Orleans festval form only a part of the chrysanthemum crop of ths county. All types of blooms from tiny buttons smaller than a copper cent to some of six and seven inches in diameter are grown. These flowers find many and varied uses in decorations and are much used by San Francisco's picturesque street flower venders.

Permit Secured for Ice Building

Building permit was secured by Taylor & Goerike, contractors, late yesterday afternoon from Building Inspector I. C. Drathman for the construction of a $12,150 building at the corner of Perry street and Brewster avenue for the Union Ice Company. The new structure will contain both office and warehouse for the Redwood Ice Delivery of which J. E. Baughn is manager. Work will be started immediately.

Co. Federation To Resume Activities

Fall activities of the San Mateo County Federation of Women's Clubs will be resumed on Wednesday, August 26 at 10 A. M. at Gumwood Inn, an all day session being in order. The East Palo Alto Club will be the hostess organization.

Mrs. Henry W. Root, newly elected president, will be in charge of the meeting.

Work for the coming year will be outlined, and reports on proposed activities will be given by the presidents of the various clubs. Mrs. Edward L. Kilbourne will represent the local woman's club.

BIRDS TO FIGHT INSECTS

ASHLAND, Wis., (UP)—Widespread construction of birdhouses has been advocated here as an aid in combating insect pests, more numerous this season than for many years. Birds are one of the greatest factors in controlling the pests E. F. Pruett, county agent, declared.

Auto Wrecks Fire Hydrant; Causes Gusher

Car Stars When Cranked in Gear and Breaks Light Standard, Too

Redwood City had a geyser yesterday which equaled any in the Yellowstone for the fifteen minutes that it was in operation. The geyser occurred when Charles Brown, principal o the Sequoia night school, cranked his car car while it was in gear, and the machine started up. The car climbed the curb at the corner of Arch street and Broadway, hit a fire hydrant, breaking it off close to the sidewalk ,and then in a swirling rush of water, plunged on to come to a stop against an electrolier standard.

The car was badly damaged by its wild ride and the base of the electrolier standard was broken. The chief damage, however, was to the hydrant. For 15 minutes the water continued to pour from the broken pipe, until City Engineer Charles Dimmitt's crew managed to shut off the main which supplied the hydrant. To replace the broken pipe was a job which occupied the water department men the greater part of the day.

Supervisors Invite C. of C. to Meeting

At the direction of the Board of Supervisors, Elmore B. Hinman, the clerk of the board, sent out letters yesterday extending an invitation to all the Chambers of Commerce in the county and other civic organizations to attend a special meeting in the supervisors' chambers next Monday night at 7:30 o'clock to confer on the proposed budget of the San Mateo County Chamber of Commerce. The county organization submitted its budget to the board last week in which it asked $22,000 for its needs during the coming year. This is $7,500 less than that asked for last year.

The Supervisors have been in session all this week with County Auditor E. M. Stack on the new county budget and expect to complete their labors so as to adopt the budget on September 1.

Art Windows Honor Memory Of W. A. Crowell And Miss Shelly

In honor of the memory of two well-beloved members of the First Congregational Church in this city, two additional stained glass windows have been added to the edifice, one for the late Miss Clara M. Shelly and the other for Mr. W. A. Crowell, an officer of the church board until his passing.

Man Found Dead Near Coast In Murder Tragedy

Crushed Skull Gives Clew To Mystery of Body Found In Shallow Creek

Mystery yesterday surrounded the death several days ago of Henry J. Hutching, whose body was found in a creek on the Emerson ranch in Purissima canyon, south of Halmoon Bay Wednesday. The man's body was discovered by two Italian ranchers, George Ambriotti and A. E. Crudelli, who had been searching for Hutchings since his disappearance from the ranch where he was spending his vacation, about a week ago.

The body was found in the shallow water of the creek beneath some overhanging bushes. At first it would give the appearance that the man had fallen into the creek and had been drowned. An examination by Coroner J. C. McGovern, however, disclosed that Hutchings' lungs contained no water, but that the cause of death was a fractured skull and a broken neck. This has led to the conclusion that Hutchings had been murdered and his body carried to the creek and placed in the water after he was dead in an effort to convey the impression that he was accidently drowned.

Hutchings' body was removed to the parlors of the Lasswell Undertaking Co., Daly City, where Coroner J. C. McGovern will hold an inquest next Tuesday.

Sheriff J. J. McGrath and Coroner McGovern spent yesterday investigating the ranch where Hutchings was found, and are endeavoring to find who was last with him.

The murder theory has been strengthened by their investigations. They found that in the house where Hutchings was staying two nearly emptied wine glasses were on the table, leading to the supposition that some one had been in the house with him just before he left or was carried away. Hutchings was an habitual pipe smoker, and was never known to go out without his pipe and tobacco. On the table with the glasses, the officers found both pipe and tobacco, which has led them to believe that Hutchings was killed in the house, and later was carried to the creek and thrown in.

No motive for the murder has so far been discovered. It is not thought to have been robbery, although a gold watch and ten dollars in cash which Hutchings is thought to have been carrying, have not been found. He had, however, a gold ring and a diamond stick pin, and both of these were on the body when found.

The dead man was the superintendent of a San Francisco sheet metal concern, and resided at 136 Vista Grande in Daly City. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Lena Hutchings and by ten children.

DAMAGE SUIT FILED

A suit for $12,455 has been filed in the superior court here by J. H. Waymire for personal injuries which he claims were sustained when he was struck by a car driven by George Pappas, while crossing Mission street at Daly City on August 18. Pappas is named defendant in the action.

County Bar Association Backs Judge In Right to Give a Directed Verdict

The Bar Association of San Mateo county held a special meeting yesterday morning in which the attorneys upheld Judge Buck's authority in giving a directed verdict. The resolution of the bar association was in opposition to the proposed recall, and was passed before the attorneys learned that the recall proceedings had been dropped at the earnest request of John Taaffe, attorney for Mrs. Gavin.

Eighteen members of the bar association were present and passed the resolution unanimously. It was prepared by a committee consisting of Attorneys J. W. Coleberd, C. N. Kirkbride and Norman Menefee. The resolution follows:

WHEREAS, it is stated in the public press that a group of men and women have threatened to commence recall proceedings against Superior Judge Geo. H. Buck "because of his usurpation of the rights of the jury in the Flood will case" in directing a verdict in favor of the respondents; and

WHEREAS, the Supreme Court of the State of California has said in the Estate of Baldwin, 162 Cal. 471:

"A directed verdict is proper, unless there is sustantial evidence tending to prove in favor of plaintiff all the controverted facts necessary to establish his case. In other words, a directed verdict is proper whenever, upon the whole evidence, th judge would be compelled to set a contrary verdict aside as unsupported by the evidence. To warrant a court in directing a verdict, it is not necessary that there should be an absence of conflict in the evidence, but, to deprive the court of the right to exercise this power, if there be a conflict, it must be a substantial one."

and

WHEREAS Judge Arhur Keetch, in an article entitled "Duties and Respcnsibilities of Trial Juries" concerning directed verdicts, says:

K. P. Lodge Plans To Present 3-Act Comedy Sept. 3 - 4

"Corporal Egan," a Fast Moving Rookie Comedy Is Choice for Lodge Show

El Camino Lodge, Knights of Pythias of this city will present "Corporal Egan," a three-act rookie comedy, in the auditorium of the Sequoia Union High School on the evenings of September 3 and 4. The comedy is described as a riot of laughs, with several patriotic effects ,and two clever in-between act numbers. A snappy minstrel show and a beautiful sailor revue with singing and dancing acts will complete the entertainment.

The cast will be composed of 150 of Redwood City's civic leaders and society folk, and will provide an entertainment which the Knights of Pythias are happy to present to the fun-loving public of Redwood City.

Miss Ruth Norwood, representative of the Universal Producing Company of Fairfield, Iowa, is here to coach the production. Miss Norwood coached plays in the bay district from January to June last year. Her home is in Texas.

The production is being planned by the following committee of the Knights of Pythias Lodge:

Cast Committee—Sid Mason, chairman; Ernest Hecht, William O'Connor, Paul Reimer, Floyd Allen, S. E. Dennis.

Ticket Committee—Francis Moller, chairman; S. H. Stone.

Finance Committee—Paul Reimer, chairman; E. H. Sampson.

Publicity—Willis O'Connor, chairman; Sidney Mason, E. H. James, J. E. Whitmore.

Costumes and property—Ernest Hecht, chairman; M. Fargo.

General Committee—E. L. Bues, E. I. Booth, J. W. Dean, S. E. Dennis, E. H. James, J. E. Whitmore, and C. H. Ward.

Local Man Given Recognition by Bank of America

Albert Oneto, teller at the Redwood City branch of the Bank of America, was awarded this week a silver pin by the executive council of the bank in recognition of his five years' service with the institution. The bank awards bronz pins for one year's service, silver for five years' and gold pins for 10 years' service.

At present the three officers of the local branch are all gold pin men. They are Carl Wagner, manager; Amerigo Rossi, assistant manager; and Paul Reimer, cashier. Two of the tellers are silver-pin men; Oneto and J. A. Buhler. All other employees of the local branch have been awarded bronz pins.

Exchange Club Hears About Ghandi

In a talk before the Redwood City Exchange Club at the Hotel Sequoia Tuesday evening, K. L. Dixit, attending the summer school at Stanford and a native of India, declared that India is a country to be reckoned with, despite its enemies and its illiteracy, because it has produced such men as Ghandi.

Mr. Dixit knows Ghandi personally and has talked with him many times. He said that the great leader lives for truth alone. Lord Irwin, present head of British administration in India, is making every effort to cooperate with Ghandi in solving India's great problems. India, however, he says, wants to govern herself.

Dr. Robert F. Monteith and George S. Whitehead were introduced as new members. Duncan Reynard entertained the Exchange members with several songs, accompanying himself on the banjo. Guy R. Kennedy was chairman.

Carmel—Ward Engineering Co. submitted low bid of $203,334 for construction of Bixby creek bridge, 18 miles south of here on Carmel-San Simeon highway.

Valued Horses Sent to Show In Kentucky

Mrs. Roth Is Sending Twelve Of Her Best Horses to Eastern Show

One of the most valuable shipments of horses made from the local express office was sent out this week when twelve prize-winning horses belonging to Mrs. William Roth, of Woodside, were sent to Louisville, Kentucky for exhibition at the Louisville horse show. These were some of the fine horses exhibited by Mrs. Roth at the National Horse Show at Menlo Park last week, and which attracted such wide attention. Among them is her prize-winning, Chief of Longview which she values at $40,000.

The twelve horses are being shipped east in a specially constructed express car with eight attendants to look after their every requirements.

Mrs. Roth has 48 fine horses on her Why Worry Farm at Woodside.

Women Discuss Flood Verdict

Power of Judges Over Juries Taken Up By Clubwomen In San Francisco

That Judge Buck was acting within his rights and within the law in directing a veridct in the Flood case was the opinion of two lawyers who addressed a meeting of more than a thousand club women of the peninsula in San Francisco Tuesday afternoon.

The meeting, presided over by Mrs. D. E. F. Easton, was called with the purpose of discussing the present law by which a judge can direct a verdict in opposition to the views of the jury. It was addressed by Miss Alma Myers, an attorney; and Walter M. Dodd, chief deputy city attorney.

"If you don't approve of a directed verdict," Dodd, declared, "it is up to you to get the law repealed by the legislature.

"But don't do that until you have something better to take its place. If you do, you will not only pull down one law, but all laws, and that will mean disaster."

Many of the women appeared disappointed that the meeting did not censure Judge Buck for his direct verdict in the Flood case, the majority seemed satisfied that the judge was acting within the law, but desired that the law be changed so that the condition could not be repeated.

The meeting was held in the hotel Whitcomb in San Francisco, and was called originally to protest against Judge Buck's action, but developed into a technical discussion of the law.

Las Lomitas School To Open Monday

The board of trustees of Las Lomitas school has announced that the date of opening the school has been set at August 24, the same as Sequoia Union High School.

COMMITTEE AGREES TO DROP PROCEEDINGS AT TAAFFE'S REQUEST

Decides to Continue Its Existence In Order To Investigate Conditions of County's Government

GEO. MERRILL OFFERS RESOLUTION

Taaffe Says Recall Movement Would Act Against Mrs. Gavin's Interests

The movement to recall Judge Buck, a movement which followed his instructed verdict in the Flood will contest, and which was the outgrowth of his action in that case, came to an abrupt end Wednesday evening. The end of the effort to recall the aged jurist was the result of an earnest petition by John Taaffee, counsel for Mrs. Gavin, against whom Judge Buck's directed verdict was given.

Taaffe called upon the committee which was preparing the recall campaign, to drop their proceedings, as he said the recall move would be prejudicial to his client, for whom a new trial has been asked.

Thirteen of the members of the recall committee were present when Taaffe presented his plea, and at first it appeared as though the committee would ignore the attorney's request. Captain Victor Lewis, who headed the committee, told Taaffe that it was not alone because of the Flood verdict that the recall committee had been formed.

"We are surprised at your unusual request," Captain Lewis told Taaffe. "And I must say we intend to carry out our plans with all possible speed, regardless of your feelings in the matter.

"Judge Buck's action in the Flood case is only one of many examples of his czaristic rule of the San Mateo county courts. This recall movement is a spontaneous uprising of citizens, who have tired of his repeated flouting of American liberties."

The matter was submitted to the members of the committee present, and they voted 9 to 4 to continue the recall movement in spite of the attorney's plea that it be dropped. After further discussion, however, a second vote was taken at which time the committee voted 10 to 3 in favor of dropping the recall. This was done after it had been shown that even if the recall were successful, Judge Buck could not be removed from office much before his term of office ends next year.

Former Mayor George A. Merrill then proposed that the committee be not disbanded, but that the name be changed and that the committee continue as an organization to correct what he termed a flaw in the law by which a judge was empowered to direct a verdict against the will of the jury. Also, Merrill stated, that the committee was needed to investigate other county officers and conditions of county government. "I have heard rumors," said Merrill, "of corruption in county officers."

Merrill, however, refused to make any specific charges at this time. His resolution was unanimously passed by the members of the recall committee, which then became a citizens' committee.

This committee will forward their resolution in regard to the power of the judge to instruct a verdict to the bar association which will be asked to consider the matter for presentation to the state legislature with a request that the latter body pass an amendemnt to the effect that where a judge directs a verdict in opposition to the jury, that the latter may render an alternative verdict. In case of an appeal of such a case the higher court could enforce the alternative verdict instead of the directed one.

A committee of five was appointed to formulate a set of by-laws for the permanent citizens' committee. This committtee consists of K. A. Winter, Julius Smith, J. P. Hearne, Mrs. Richard Freechle and Harry Arnold.

Redwood Air Show To Be Held At Local Airport on August 23

An "air show" will be held here at the Sanders air field at the foot of Broadway all day Sunday. This affair is being arranged under the management of Kenny Neese, assisted by a number of other nationally-known pilots.

Don "Shuey," parachute jumper, will give an exhibition of jumping, including his famous "bullet drop," and Harry Sham, sportsman and pilot, will be here with his Whirlwind Stearman for stunt flying. A number of nationally-known pilots will be at the field to take passengers on excursion flights.

The local airfield is becoming very popular with individual pilots, and eight or ten landings are made there each day. The climatic conditions here are declared to be ideal for air navigation. The field is operated by Mrs. Florence S. Wampler.

A Wise Move

In dropping the recall proceedings against Judge Buck, the committee which was preparing the recall made a wise move. Without any reference to the need of a recall in this particular case, we believe that the cost, about $30,000, is too much to impose upon the county. Judge Buck has but one more year in his present term. At the end of that time those who desire to see him out of office can show their dissatisfaction without any cost to the county, if they still feel in the same frame of mind.

To bring about a recall at this time would have required more money than the surplus in the county fund could provide. It would have meant an addition to the county budget, and more taxes to every land owner of the county. While it is the right of citizens to demand the recall of a public official whom they do not believe to be worthy of the office, it is a matter which should receive deep consideration before being invoked. Many believe that Judge Buck was right in his stand; more, we believe, thought him sincere in his move, but believe that he erred in his action; a few believe that he was prejudiced.

But $30,000 would be a big price to pay for the satisfaction of a group which does not contain, perhaps a majority of the people of the county, and at any rate not all of its citizens, when everyone would have been forced to foot the bill.

The Playground Bonds

In delaying the calling of an election to vote bonds for parks and playgrounds for Redwood City, the city council took a commendable stand. Redwood City needs the proposed improvements, and we believe that a large majority of the people of the town would be in favor of the proposed bond issue. But the present time is a poor one to ask the people to vote more bonds, and we think that it would have been jeopardizing a worthy proposition to have submitted it at an election at this time.

A city needs parks and playgrounds, and we believe that the people of Redwood City will strongly support this bond issue when it is presented later on when business has had time to recover from the recent depression. But for the present it were better that all bond elections be delayed as far as possible.

Fishermen's Wharf

Reading that courses in citizenship and other prosaic subjects are being instituted among the denizens of Fishermen's Wharf, the editor of the Los Gatos Mail-News laments and foresees a passing of one of San Francisco's picturesque institutions.

He thinks the fishermen should be left as they are and should spend their evenings singing songs of the Mediterranean instead of sitting in class-rooms struggling with civics and English composition.

The Americanization movement and the shutting off of immigration are undoubtedly robbing us of a lot of the color and variety of city life. Eventually we shall have to develop some picturesque types and customs of our own, as the Mediterranean did, or go without.

As for Fishermen's Wharf, it has been on its way to spoliation for a long time. Old-timers remember when its men went to sea in boats propelled, not by chugging motors, but by lateen sails of red and orange. When the age of gasoline arrived they were sure that they never wanted to visit the wharf again. Yet it remains a lure to residents and visitors, and probably will continue to be, so long as men return there daily in boats piled high with their catch. The salt and sounding sea looks after that, and not even gasoline can make a fisherman's life entirely uninteresting.—S. F. News.

Law observance is a citizen's most sacred duty. If a law is wrong or obnoxious, it can be done away with in an orderly and lawful manner, but while it is a law respectable citizens will observe it and the other kind of citizens should be made to observe it.

Unfortunately, depression seems not to have hit the automobile death rate. Incomplete returns from the several states, compiled by an insurance company, indicate that motor vehicles killed 9 percent more persons in the first quarter of 1931 than in the corresponding period of 1930.

We hear a great deal about church union but when the different organizations are brought face to face with a direct proposal for unity each hesitates to surrender its own individuality and there the proposal ends. Unity is a fine thing, if the other fellow will adopt your methods and your theories, but unless that much is conceded negotiations are at an end.

The Editorial Circuit Rider

(A symposium of editorial comment from California Newspapers.)
By MELVIN LORD

Should a special election be called on the proposed referendum measures?

California editors are divided on the question, both from the standpoint of cost and necessity.

While some believe the question of reapportionment and the oil proration questions are ones requiring immediate settlement, others contend that the 1932 elections will offer sufficient time for the people of California to be given an opportunity to voice their opinion.

The Willows Journal was one of the first publications to come out against the special election. It said:

"With his usual disregard for economy Governor Rolph is expected to call a special election this fall on two reapportionment bills and the Sharkey oil measure.

"According to Assemblyman E. A. McDaniel 'it is doubtful if 25 per cent of the voters in the rural districts would go to the polls at a special election, while at a general election the apportionment bills would become a campaign issue and every candidate for office would be compelled to discuss the subject."

"It would seem," contends the Pomona Progress-Bulletin "that the cost of referendum, certainly a large sum, is an absolute waste of taxpayers' money as people at the polls are certain to uphold the legislative program alloting eleven congressmen to southern California."

On the other hand The Riverside Daily Press points out that "it is urged that the issue is so important that it should be presented by itself and not be confused by an other proposition. Moreover it is highly desirable that the question be settled as early as possible. If the referendum is invoked, Governor Rolph will be strongly urged to call an election in November or December of this year.

Commenting on the announcement by Los Angeles attorneys that the re-apportionment act is "not referable," The Humboldt Daily Standard hopes the lawyers are right because a"it will save the state a lot of money incident to the special election necessary to vote the referendum down."

Recognizing the fact that Governor Rolph has pledged himself to call a special election in the event the referendum petitions are successful, numerous southern California publications are content with the warning that it will be necessary "to get busy and organize a vigorous campaign for the affirmation of the law."

Speaking of reapportionment in another editorial, the Willows Journal calls attention to the fact that the apportionment of the senate will be effective for the first time next session when the "rural Bloc" will be completely in control of the upper house.

Happiness is a changeable thing after all, and it is a good thing perhaps for all concerned, that we are not all wanting the same thing to make us happy, as there probably would not be enough of the commodity to go "around."

During 1930, more than 100,000 people in the United States died as the result of accidents, and nearly 3,000,000 others were injured. Many of these lives could have been saved and much suffering prevented by proper first-aid treatment.

While road building has made wonderful advancement in the last few years it does not seem to have as yet got far beyond the experimental stage and we have not yet begun to build for the future. The paved roads are still too narrow.

Sponge necklaces have made their appearance in Paris, according to a news report. Well, as we remember Paris, there were enough sponges there as it was. In fact sponging on the strangers appeared to be the chief occupation.

You have just so much time to spend in this old world, and it is up to you to decide whether that time is spent in happiness or discontent. Time passes more pleasantly and quickly when one is engaged in useful, productive work. The most discontented are those who do not work.

This federal extravagance is largely a local issue. It is caused mostly by patriotic demands for the benefit of the district or state. If the voters and leading citizens at home will turn economical in their claims at Washington, congress will reflect their spirit.

Children have no business owning or having access to firearms. The .22 calibre rifle is dangerous because its power is not respected. A well-placed bullet from one of these small-bore weapons will kill as readily as a large rifle. They are dangerous gifts to children. Even many men of our acquaintance are criminally incapable of handling firearms.

The country does not need unparalleled prosperity. It should not strive for it. What it needs, and what it should seek to regulate, is an even and steady flow of industrial and agricultural movements so that we neither climb mountains nor fall over precipices, nor gluttonize one day only to search for meager crusts the next.

Postal regulations forbid newspapers to publish advertisements of lotteries and most papers observe the rule. On the other hand radio stations throughout the country resort to this method of advertising and so far Uncle Sam has not even remonstrated. In al probability such cases will be remedied in time.

The man who complains most loudly about the shortcomings of the press is generally the one who borrows his neighbor's paper and never advertises and if he has a printing job sends it out of town.

Only female mosquitoes bite humans. But don't stay your hand just because the pest is a lady.

CONSTANCE KERR, a millionaire's daughter, who is her twin in looks. Sheila, after years in a rural town, is seeking adventure.

She has refused to marry her guardian, YOUNG DOCTOR MALCOM BAXTER. Constance tells Sheila she is Heaven-sent-a means of escape from a terrible mess.

Constance is fleeing from her husband, THE COUNT DE BELLEFONTE, whom she married that morning.

She consented to marry him after a quarrel with HARRY EDMONDS, with whom she is desperately in love.

His letters begging her forgiveness are kept from her by her mother. She finds them immediately after her marriage. Realizing that she can never be the Count's wife, she takes passage for Europe at once. Harry is in England.

She begs Sheila to impersonate her in Paris for a few days, while she seeks Harry in London, to try to find a way out of her muddle.

Sheila, scenting adventure agrees.

Constance gives Sheila her clothes and coaches her for the role she is to play. A first-class passenger.

TOMMY FITZGERALD, an old beau of Constance's, sees Sheila and hails her as Constance. Sheila tells him he has made a mistake.

At Southampton Constance leaves the ship as Sheila Allen, with all of Sheila's effects, including her passport.

At Harve, Fitzgerald sees Sheila with Constance's passport and she says she is the heiress, and explains the tourist passage as payment of a bet. A strange woman embraces her as an old friend.

There she receives a message from the Count, who is in Paris.

Harry Edmonds arrives in Paris. Sheila is panic-stricken. She wonders where Constance is.

To escape both Harry and the informs her aunt in Baden-Baden that her neice is ill. The aunt radios Mr. Kerr, who radios Sheila that he is coming to Paris.

She succeeds in convising Aunt Sophia that her presence is not required in Paris. A message from Mr. Kerr tells that the his yacht is disabled and that he cannot come to Paris for some time.

Harry urges her to marry him immediately. She puts him off.

The Baronne is angry, for she wants a clear field for her stepson, CARLO, whom she is anxious to marry off.

To keep Harry pacified, Sheila agrees to announcing their engagement shortly.

Harry denies this and the Count challenges him to a duel.

Sheila, in desperation, to prevent the duel, confesses that she is not Constance Kerr.

Thecount sends for Constance's aunt, stying that she will know her own niece. The old lady, on arriving, is not told what has happened, and she accepts Sheila without question.

The result is that the Count, Harry and the Baronne agree that Sheila is temporarily unbalanced. Chapter No. 36—

She finds herself virtually a prisoner, with a physician and nurses in atendance.

Constance meanwhile is in London.

She learns that Harry is in Paris

CHAPTER 39—

A Ray of Hope

Radiant with happiness, now that she knew the whereabouts of Harry Edmonds, Constance hailed a cab and rushed back to her hotel. Her determination to hire a plane and fly to paris that night was strengthened with every moment.

The manager of the Athenae was dining in his private office when she burst in upon him. She had been a guest at the hotel only two days, but he had already learned that she was a person whose whims must be granted, so he listened patiently while she poured out a tale about urgent business in Paris that required her attention and ended by demanding that he arrange for her to go there by plane.

"I will see what can be done" he said. "You will hear from me within half an hour."

Constance went to her suite and roused the maid, who was dozing before the fire.

"Pack that small bag," she ordered. "I'm going to Paris. Just put in what I need for overnight. You may have the rest of the stuff. I don't want to be bothered with it, so take it, if you wish."

In a few moments the manager was at the door. It was very doubtful if a plane could be had that night. If Miss Allen wished to wait until morning, she could obtain passage on one of the regular passenger planes. Wouldn't that do?

Constance shook her head. "I want to start right away —now. It's most important."

The telephone rang just then, and the manager's clerk said some one was calling from Croyden. The manager took the instrument. His face lighted up. He turned to Constance.

"Here is a piece of luck. I had telephoned Croyden to ask if a plane was available and was told that there were none that would go out tonight. Now, however, it seems that a special five-passenger ship is to leave for Paris at midnight. A party of Americans, I believe. There is a possibility that one of them may not be able to reach London in time. If you care to go to Croydon on the chance —"

Constance was more than willing. Within half an hour she had paid her bill, left the hotel, and started for Croyden. When she arrived at the flying-field, it was deserted, except for a few attendants, several members of the party that was to leave at midnight and their pilot. She strolled nervously about, while the members of the special party consulted their watches every few minutes and speculated as to whether the missing passenger would arrive in time to take off.

As she waited an eerie, uneasy feeling came over Constance. Was she wise to attempt this flight? Would it not be better to wait until morning? She watched the beam of a giant beacon that was sweeping the skies and reflected that she always rushed pell mell into everything — her quarrel with Harry, her marriage with the Count, her flight to Europe. Caution was foreign to her nature. Ought she be guided by the impulse that now counseled delay?

While she was trying to come to a decision, and the hands of the clock were within a few minutes of the time when the plane would start, fate stepped in and decided the matter for her. The sound of a motor was heard in the distance. A speeding car dashed up, and a plump, excited American jumped out, almost before it had come to a full stop.

The fifth member of the party had arrived! The realization that she would now be left behind banished all the doubts that Constance had been having as to the wisdom of making the trip. More than anything in the world she wanted to be off to Paris. But that was impossible.

A sob rose in her throat as an attendant said: "Sorry, but you'll have to wait until morning, Miss. We only said that there might be a chance ——"

Constance nodded and turned away. "At ten tomorrow, Miss," the attendant added, "You can make your reservation now, if you wish."

Back in the Athenae once more. Constance prepared gloomily for bed. She was oppressed by a thought that previously had not occurred to her. What if Harry had met Sheila Allen in Paris. News of the arrival of the Kerr heiress would be in all the papers, and he would call at her hotel at once. Suppose Sheila, confronted by him, had lost her nerve and confessed the subterfuge! In that case, Harry might, at this moment, be on his way to London.

Oh, what a muddle! Constance's head ached as she thought of it all. She wept helplessly and, at last, sank into a troubled sleep.

At seven o'clock the next morning, the maid was shaking her gently. Constance opened her eyes crossly. "Time to get up, Miss, if you're going to Paris this morning," said the maid.

Constance sat up with a start. Paris! She looked about. Oh, yes. Things came back to her now. She must be at Croyden at ten o'clock sharp. A quick shower, a hasty breakfast, and she was ready to start. Then she glanced at her watch. No use going now. Much too early — only have to wait out there. She paid her bill and looked through some magazines in a little salon off the lobby.

Every few minutes she glanced at her watch. Time had never dragged so. She decided to go outside for a breath of air. The sidewalks were crowded, the street was filled with motor-cars. All of London seemed on the move. She looked about listlessly. After the excitement of last night and the preceding day, she felt very tired. She walked slowly up and down in front of the hotel.

Across the street a wretched-looking man was drawing pictures on the sidewalk with a bit of colored chalk and holding out his tattered hat to passers-by, who stopped to look at them. He looked so cold and forlorn that Constance felt a throb of pity. Impulsively she crossed over and dropped a few shillings into his hat. Then she glanced again at her watch. Heavens! Time to start for Croyden. Her little bag was at the hotel. She would pick it up and ask the doorman to call a taxi.

The excitement of the moment sent her spirits up, and she dashed into the street, recklessly, looking neither right nor left. There was a warning shout from several bystanders, and the grinding of brakes hastily applied.

In her preoccupation, she had stepped directly in the path of a taxi that had just rounded the corner.

CANARY FAMILY PROLIFIC

ROBINSON, Kan.,—(UP) — Mrs. Ashley Swaim's pair of canaries are as prolic as guinea pigs. In the past two months they have hatched four settings of eggs, three or four offsprings being raised with each moulting. When the young birds are able to shift for themselves, the mother forces their removal from the cage.

NOW A WOMAN WILL TRY IT

Several men flying aces having failed in the Seattle-Tokyo non-stop flight, this L. A. aviatrix, Juanita Burns, means to have a try for the $50,000 prize and attending honors. Miss Burns, who will fly alone, plans shortly to sail with her plane for Tokyo, having elected to start at that point rather than at Seattle.

Living Wage Only Solution to School Child's Attendance

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 19—(UP)—Give dad a living wage and keep the children in school.

This, in brief, is the plea of the state department of industrial welfare, which believes with federal authorities that child labor is largely due to lack of money in the family.

California will be faced with an unemployment crisis this winter nearly as serious as that of last year, it is estimated. The 1931 legislature created an unemployment commission to work out methods of relief.

When the chief wage earner of a family is unable to earn sufficient to maintain a decent standard of living, it is useless to consider a normal solution of the problem created by children quitting school.

"No child under 18 should ever be permitted to leave school for work," nor should boys and girls of 17 and 18 be allowed to enter occupations known to be physically or morally hazardous, or to work more than 8 hours a day or at night," it was declared.

Among recommendations made by the recent White House conference on vocational guidance and child labor are the extension of state aid to widows and dependent children in the form of mothers' aid laws, with grants sufficient for the family to maintain an adequate standard of living; establishment of a minimum wage scale to avoid exploitation of children; scholarship funds as a part of the public school budget, to keep young persons in school who would otherwise be obliged to work, and changes in school courses to avoid discouragement and feeling of inferiority that are often responsible for children leaving school for work.

Other recommendations are extension of school attendance requirements for child-workers in agriculture; migratory schools (such as required in California); prohibition of employment of young persons in dangerous occupations, and extended and increased compensation for injured minors, including additional compensation for minors illegally employed and compensation based on future earning capacity for minors permanently injured.

JAP MOVIE STARS' PAY LOW

TOKIO—(UP) — Japan's highest paid movie star—Denjiro Ohkohchi —gets a yearly salary which is less than the weekly earnings of some of Hollywood's favorites. Income tax return reveal Denjiro's wages are $5,000 a year. Yoko Umemura, highest salaried woman star, gets only $1,500 a year.

BUILDERS OF CALIFORNIA

Fresh Meats for everyone

• • thanks to Refrigeration

COOLED by tons of salted ice, refrigerator cars speed fresh meats to every town and hamlet. But for this modern method, many communities would still depend on salt pork and barreled beef!

Meat packing companies maintain vast systems of distribution in this state—pay five million dollars in annual wages—buy approximately 60 million dollars' worth of California livestock every year.

Credit, extended by Bank of America, helps to provide a year-around cash market for livestock producers.

In distributing meats, the packers also make constructive use of this Bank's statewide service.

Through Bank of America branches in all parts of the state, they accumulate funds collected from dealers.

The Bank promptly forwards these funds to any designated point. Thus large sums that would otherwise remain in transit are released for productive use.

This is one of many economies that enable the packers to conduct their business on a small fraction of the consumer's dollar.

Your banking requirements may be less complex. But whether you desire the most complete commercial facilities, or a sound, convenient depository for savings, Bank of America is equipped to serve you well.

Auto Wreck Causes Arrest For Car Theft

Albert Corbett, 25, a taxi driver of San Francisco, ran into a streak of tough luck early yesterday morning while piloting his way north along El Camino Real. Corbett's course appears to have diverged from the straight and narrow, and his car collided with a telephone pole with such force that the pole was broken off.

Officer James Sneider was summoned by neighbors who declared that a man was disturbing the peace. He found Corbett badly intoxicated and booked him at the county jail on charges of being drunk and of illegal transportation of liquor.

An investigation by Sneider disclosed that the wrecked car was one stolen from John D. Stephenson of San Francisco and Corbett was held enrcute to San Francisco to face the auto theft charge.

Breaking of the pole caused the fire alarm system to be broken and resulted in a loud and long blast from the fire whistle.

Red Sox Outfielder Chases Record

BOSTON, Aug., 20 (UP) — Earl Webb, Boston Red Sox outfielder who seems likely to break the big league record for two-base hits this season, hits to all angles of the field and it is futile to attempt to guess where he'll drive the ball, according to opposing fielders.

Webb got a break one day recently when his hard grounder hit his own glove, lying out in right field, and caromed off sharply from the spot where the outfielder was awaiting it. The normal single went for two bases.

Matters were evened up the following day when a drive that should have gone for extra bases struck Umpire Richard Nahm and was held to a single.

Contract A Contract To This Ballplayer

KANSAS CITY, Kan., Aug. 20—(UP)—A contract to play baseball is a contract to play, and doesn't give the player the right to loaf around suffering from appendicitis, according to Paul O'Boynick, semi-pro pitcher.

Paul had a pain in his side on a Saturday aternoon. His doctor pronounced it acute appendicitis and told him to go to bed, getting ready for an operation the next day.

But Paul was to pitch that afternoon. So he did, for 12 innings, and then won the game by sliding home on a steal. They took him to the hospital on a stretcher that afternoon.

Editor Times-Gazette:

As a movement has been started for the recall of Judge George H. Buck, jurist in the recent Flood will case, where Constance May Gavin sued for a daughter's share of the Flood millions and where Judge Buck directed the jury's verdict it might be well for those engaged in his "recall" to glance over the record of the past forty-five years where Judge Buck served the people of San Mateo county, giving the best that was in him unflinchingly, and without any blemish to his character, working both early and late in his court, handling a well filled calandar that ordinarily would require two jurists to take care of.

Does it seem fair after all these years of faithful service "for a mistake" a certain number citizens should become vindictive and demand his recall?

God help us if we all were fatally punished for some of the mistakes we make; and if all were barred from condemning him with the exception of those who never made mistakes, we can depend upon it he would have no accusers.

To say the least if carried through it will be a blot on San Mateo county and will go down in history.

Charity is so beautiful a virtue, and when brought into action, one gains so much and losses nothing.

His mistake has produced an undeniable good result in the case of Constance May Gavin as it has now become a more out-standing issue in the eyes of the far-reaching public and has brought a final decision in the minds of the people that Constance May Gavin is the daughter of James L. Flood and consequently entitled to a daughter's share.

It is to be greatly admired—the attitude of Attorneys Maxwell McNutt and John Taaffe who represented Constance May Gavin, having sent word to the recall committee, "that they are taking no part in the recall movement whatever." The club women too of San Francisco of which Mrs. D. E. F. Easton is chairman show their good spirit by announcing the purpose of their meeting is "solely" to discuss the discretionary power of judges and not a demand for the recall or resignation of the jurist.

How much more praise-worthy to allow Judge Buck to go on till he himself will retire and then give him the same good cheer and kind wishes that were given him forty odd years ago when he was elected Superior Judge of San Mateo county.

MRS. A. F. ANDERSON.

Editor Times-Gazette,
Redwood City,
Sir:

For the last few weeks the Flood-Gavin contest, staged in your city, has been much in evidence in the pages of our bay cities' leading dailies, hence the subsequent widely advertised talk of engineering a recall of the presiding judge at that tial has stirred up so much interest in San Francisco, especially among its women folk, that I trust you will pardon a word or two in your paper from one who is inclined to think of this agitation as a "Much Ado About Nothing."

In fact I hope that, like the report of Mark Twain's death, the talk about recalling Judge Buck has been greatly exaggerated. To those of us untouched by the sentimental atmosphere which doubtless played a large part in forming public opinion in San Mateo county such a move would appear to be far less an arraignment of the judge for illegal procedure than an advertisement of the ignorance of both jury and public regarding the powers and duties of the judicial bench.

One would infer from the public discussions of the matter that many good people seem to imagine that when a jury of twelve citizens are installed in the jury box the judge has no option but to carry it through to a decision by that jury! They forget, if they ever knew, that the judge still retains the right and responsibility of deciding from the evidence as produced whether or not the case has enough merit to deserve this complete treatment. Judge Buck considered that the Flood-Gavin case as developed in court had no such merit and acted accordingly, and in harmony with the law. That this is a course infrequently followed by judges is no excuse for a denunciation of any judge who cares or dares to pursue it, and for a body of supposedly law-abiding citizens to attempt to recall their judge for his use of a law of which they were either ignorant or with which their sentiments did not happen to agree must appear to unprejudced outsiders as nothing but an ebullition of childish pique or of poliiical machinery. And let us hope that the leading citizens of San Mateo will guard against any movement which might so impeach the intelligence and fairmindedness of her people.

The average jury, we regret to note, is not usually if ever notable for its knowledge of law, and while a jury has the right as individuals to express dissent from the judge's opinion, it certainly does not add to its reputation by demanding the right to control the bench as well as occupy the jury box!

In conclusion may I say that the evidence of a Flood paternity for Mrs. Gavin, must seem to many of us who carefully followed the case in the daily papers hardly justifies such an outcry about injustice. When Mrs. Gavin's mother and grandmother insist upon oath that Cannon was the father it seems to most of us that Judge Buck was entirely correct in throwing the case out of court. The mass of inferences and gossip which kindle sentiment for a poor family in its efforts to besmirch a rich man's reputation in order to share in his wealth!

All that was proven was that the Floods were overly kind to needy people; overly kind because now that very kindness is being stigmatised as an evidence of guilt! and of course human nature being what it is this sort of argument—or hasty intererence gets wide acceptance on the slimmest sort of evidence! But that is misguided sentiment, not justice, and our courts of justice are not maintained to gratify the grudges of one class against another! Many of us therefore heartily approve of the judge's action, and wish that his kind may increase.

To the Editor:

Please run the following letter on the Flood case which was written to the San Francisco News:

McMurray On Flood Case

Editor: Your editorial on the verdict in the Flood case leaves the readers in doubt as to what we are to have as the alternative to "the law" in the determination of controversies respecting the life, liberty and property of the people. If not the law, what shall guide the course of our judges? You say, repeal the law, ladies. If you can't pull it down!" Repeal it, by all means, if it is bad; but pulling it down, when you leave no other defense, may be a pretty serious matter.

The law to be repealed or pulled down is presumably that which requires a judge to direct a verdict where there is an absence of competent and relevant evidence on a material issue. The writer of the editorial suggests the view that when a jury has been impaneled it should be free to decide the case free from the judge's interference. The implication is that the judge should be reduced to the position of a mere observer of the struggle between two parties.

It is to be regretted that a journal which stands for progressive policies in regard to law and its administration should advocate breaking down one of the safeguards that makes for certainty the justice, a result that must inevitably follow the weakening of the influence that the judge exercises in litigation and the submission of every controversy to the opinion of the jury. The efficiency of the jury as a means of obtaining justice has already been impaired in California and in a few of the other states of the Union by restricting the power of the judge to comment upon the facts of the case. The jury is thus deprived of the benefit of the experience and knowledge of their inexpert and unfamiliar task.

If power is also to be withdrawn from the judge to grant non-suits, dismissals of action, directed verdicts and new trials, and if the rights of the individual in his property, his family, his liberty are to be subject to the varing gales of public opinion, we shall pretty nearly lose the residue of freedom that conditions of modern life have left to us.

It may be that the judge in the Flood case committed an error of judgment. The appellate courts can tell us whether he did or did not err. As a member of the public, possessing neither the special knowledge of the law and facts which the judge who heard the case possess, I cannot assume to decide, nor do I comprehend how others equally ignorant with myself can serve any useful end by criticism of the judge's action. It was not only his privilege, but his sworn duty to direct a verdict, if he honestly believed that the state of the evidence required that action. Whether one agrees with the result or not, credit should be given the public servant who fearlessly performs the duties that fall to him, especially in these days when so many in public life are essaying the role of Artful Dodger.—Orrin K. McCurray, Berkeley.

INEZ JAMIESON MARRIED ANTHONY CAROLLA IN CEREMONY HERE

A very pretty wedding took place in Mount Carmel Church last Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when Miss Inez Jamieson, the pretty and talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Jamieson of Redwood City, became the bride of Anthony Thomas Carolla, a prominent business man of San Francisco, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Felice Carolla.

The spacious edifice was crowded with friends of the young couple. A large number who came late failed to gain entrance to the church.

Promptly at 4 o'clock, the time appointed for the performance of the ceremony, the bridal party appeared at the portals of the edifice and marched down the aisle to the sweet strains of Lohengrin's wedding march. First came the ring bearer, nephew of the bridegroom, then the flower girls, bridesmaids, and the groom's attendants, followed by the bride on the arm of her father. The bride and groom then approached the altar, where Father Kennedy began the impressive ceremony. At the conclusion of which Benediction services were begun, the bridal party remaining inside the chancel rail to receive the blessing and benediction of Father Kennedy who officiated. The high altar was nicely decorated with pink gladioli, ferns and a blaze of light from numerous candles, giving a pleasant glow to the altar setting.

Miss Jamieson wore a white satin wedding gown, trimmed with seed pearls and made with a long full skirt with peplum at the hip line and long sleeves.

A long tulle veil was fastened with orange blossoms at the side and across the back to a cap of tulle and lace. A shower bouquet of brides' roses and lilies of the valley completed her costume.

Miss Josephine Gallucci of San Francisco, niece of the groom, was maid of honor and was dressed in a rose pink satin gown and large drooping horsehair hat. She carried a sheaf of talisman roses and blue delphinium, tied with blue satin ribbon. The bridesmaids were in gowns made alike, Miss Palma Demma of this city, in yellow silk crepe with green slippers and a yellow horsehair hat; Miss Lucille Mallon of Palo Alto in turquoise blue crepe with matching horsehair hat and silver slippers, and Miss Ruth Arzino of San Mateo in green silk crepe with matching horsehair hat and cream colored slippers. They all carried talisman roses tied with ribbons matching their slippers. The little flower girls, Dolores Donovan, in a peach georgette frock, and Providence Ferrero in orchid georgette, carried green and gold baskets of pastel shade sweet peas and snap dagons. Marion Battaglia of San Francisco, niece of the groom, was the veil bearer. She was dressed in a pale green satin frock with eggshell satin trimming and made with a cape having a Queen Elizabeth collar. Anthony Carolla of San Francisco, four-year-old nephew of Mr. Anthony Carolla, carried the ring on a white satin heart-shaped pillow.

Mrs. Harry Jamieson, the bride's mother, wore flowered peach colored silk with a white hat and white gloves. Ms. Carolla, mother of the groom, wore a flowered peach colored silk with a white hat and white gloves. Mrs. Carolla, mother of the brown silk with matching hat.

Samuel Carolla was his brother's best man and the groomsmen were Mr. Frank Carolla, brother of the groom, Mr. Robert Whitehead and Mr. Jack Fullmen.

The ushers were John Stacy, Warren Zimmerman, Fred Eyronds and Salvatore Battaglia of San Francisco, a nephew of the groom.

Following the ceremony the bridal party proceeded to Cafe de Paris, Atherton, where the wedding dinner was served to the bridal party and two friends of the late Mrs. John Kearse, grandmother of the happy bride, D. E. O'Keefe and Brother D. J. Dahany, of the Jesuit Order of San Jose. Father Flannagan, assistant pastor of Mount Carmel Church said grace at the dinner.

A reception was held at the Woman's Club house on Hopkins avenue at 6 o'clock. The bridal party was met at the hall by a large number of friends. After marching around the hall, friends came forward and heaped congratulations upon the happy young couple. Dancing followed until a late hour.

The bride's cake was cut and distributed to the throng, according to an old Italian custom. When the gayety was at its height Mr. and Mrs. Carolla departed on a motor trip to Donner Lake to spend their honeymoon. The couple will reside at Castle Manor, San Francisco.

The charming bride comes from an old pioneer family of Redwood City. Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Kearse came here in the early sixties. They erected the third house built in Redwood City. Mrs. Carolla is a graduate of Notre Dame Convent of this city and Sequoia High School. She is a talented musician and a clever young woman. For some time she has taught music at Notre Dame and also taught a large private class. Her mother is also a graduate of Notre Dame and is herself an accomplished musician. Mr. and Mrs. Carolla begin life's journey together with the best wishes of all who know thm.

THE TILTED THEME IN NEW MILLINERY

MANY FELT AND FABRIC VARIATIONS

If you've never been enthusiastic about hats because you didn't think there was very much of interest to them, here's one season that's going to upset your equilibrium and get you completely devoted to the purpose of having a smart millinery wardrobe.

Variety is the big theme, and romantic influence is secondary, with original coupling them for a brilliant future. In the first place, the silhouette strikes a few unusual ideas, although in almost every instance it rises on the left side revealing a coiffure that will have to be well kept.

Leila Hyams of Metro Goldwyn Mayer shows how to wear the new front-tilt hats. Hers is of brown felt, worn with a beige and brown ermine wrap.

Bicornes and Tricornes

The newest bicornes and tricornes are pert and inveriably tilt low over the right eye, swinging off and swerving to a low back. The Empress Eugenie theme resorts to the derby type of crown, with a tiny brim rolled either at the side, back, or front, and emphasizing its strong point with a bit of narrow feather or curled ostrich.

Empress Eugenie Type

You will notice that the boat shaped hat is an exaggeration of the more conservative Engenie type, and is shaped something like the hats we used to make out of newspapers when we wanted to play soldier in our childhood—except that the crown is quite flat, rather than peaked. Feather toques promise to be seen with formal afternoon outfits, particularly in the brilliantly bright colors that will be stressed for accessories . . . these being referred to as the Second Empire Colors, and including a deep range of reds, blues, greens, purples and browns—and of course, black.

Robin Hood

And of course the Robin Hood theme is self-explanatory, signifying the rakish little hood closely fitted through the crown rolled up on one side slightly around the back, and turned down the rest of the way. It is accented by flat feathers in colorful variety, and all in all is a perfect accent to the tailored daytime frock of woolen.

Crown Interest

Crowns are getting an unusual amount of attention, and there's no end to the fanciful ideas being introduced in them. Pleatings, shirrings, appliques, tucks, narrow bandings, insets, derby effects, pulled-through-feathers, patterned fabrics, and soft effects as seen on the noblemen of the Rembrandt era are just some of a wide range of fascinating innovations.

Rich Fabrics

The picturesqueness of these fashions, naturally adds interest to the fabrics from which they must be developed, and we find that velvet is the leader in adaptability, not only for blocked brim versions, but for the soft, unstiffened type of hat. Chenille, too, in a dull finish is excellent in plain and multi-color weaves, and fur-fabrics, suggesting seal, astrakhan, beaver, leopard, caracul will be used alone, in combination with felt, or with velvet for cleverly manipulated models. Felt has taken on new textures, and the suede type will be seen much of, particularly in the more tailored hats for daytime wear. Suede, in black, brown, and dark green is going to be another favorite, in the higher priced types, and velour will be seen much of, particularly where rich effects are desired.

Exotic Colors

This season, colors have taken on such high interest, and such intriguing names, that we may as well stop for a moment and see what they are. They will be seen in millinery for every occasion, and hats will frequently endorse the contrast theme by using two or more of these complementary tones. Black still seems to lead the color chart, but it may succumb to Moghar Brown (purplish), Annamese Brown (reddish), or Negre (blackish) Brown. Vintage is a tempting red, Kiltie Green wanders from French Colonial influence to the Scotch. Fawn is a gray-beige, Nut Beige is darker, Corsaire Blue is vivid, Sahara Gold is sunlight in quality, desert green is dark but lively, and sheik red is deep and turbulent looking. Other shades are Coucou, a soft yellow, Cadix is dark tangerine. Cornichou is a bronze green, Bai is light tan; Birolle, henna; Moro, tangerine-maroon; Algerie, blue-green; Siam referes to a few shades of tan and brown; Indo China signifies a range of pinks and reds; Guienee is burnished gold, and Senegal is tomato color.

Novel Trimmings

With so fanciful a season for color, fabric, and individual styling, it is only natural that trimmings, too, should gain in signifiance. And with feathers standing first in line, comes a series of delightful novelties. The feathers are always brightly colored, and vary from little straight quills to tri-color coques and curled ostrich, as well as plume types. Straps are also interesting, and are ferquently gathered at one point in the form of acocarde or rosette. Although patent leather is not a new entry in millinery decoration, it is being used in new ways this year, particularly in contrast to dull fabrics, in the form of bindings, bands, and as the entire facing of the new narrow brims. Leaf, bird and animal designs taken from French Colonial motifs are also being worked out in the leather, while one of the novelties in the patent leather family is a patent-leather-finished angel skin which is shiny on one side, and dull on the other.

Long silken tassels are seen on a few hats made along Chinese Mandarin lines, while twisted bands of chenille and soutache are also used around the entire crown. These are all picturesque.

"It also sometimes happens that, after all the evidence on both sides has been submitted, the defendant is permitted to make a motion for what is known as a 'directed verdict.' If the judge grants the motion it is because he has come to the conclusion upon a review of the entire evidencea that it is insufficient to sustain a verdict, and, if one were returned by the jury, it would be his duty to set it aside. In such a case, therefore, the judge directs the jury to find for the defendant. Again, it is not an invasion of the functions of the jury, but is the individual and responsible act of the judge."

and

WHEREAS, Orrin K. McMurray, dean of the University of California Law School, in commenting upon the Flood case said:

"It may be that the judge in the Flood case committed an error of judgment. The appellate courts can tell us whether he did or did not err. As a member of the public, possessing neither the special knowledge of the law and facts which the judge who heard the case possesses, I cannot asume to decide, nor do I comprehend how others equally ignorant with myself, can serve any useful end by criticism of the judge's action. It was not only his privilege, but his sworn duty, to direct a verdict, if he honestly believed that the state of the evidence required that action. Whether one agrees with the result or not, credit should be given the public servant, who fearlessly performs the duties that fall to him, especially in these days when so many in public life are essaying the role of the Artful Dodger."

and

WHEREAS the San Mateo County Bar Association knows that Honorable Geo. H. Buck in directing a verdict in the Flood case did not usurp the rights of the jury but exercised a power vested in him by the constitution and laws of the State of California; and

WHEREAS, if he did commit an error of judgment in making such decision, an appeal lies to the appellate courts which are open and are the only proper tribunals to correct such an error;

NOW THEREFORE RESOLVED: That the San Mateo County Bar Association is opposed to and condemns any attempted recall of Honorable Geo. H. Buck because

(1) It would tend to cast discredit upon one of the ablest trial judges in the State of California, a judge who for more than forty years has faithfully and honestly served the people of the State of California and the citizens of San Mateo county;

(2) It would tend to make popular approval the controlling factor in the conduct of our judiciary, which would undermine and break down the power of the courts to dispense even-handed justice;

(3) It would impose upon the tax payers of San Mateo county an unwarranted expense of upwards of $25,0000 for an unnecessary and as we believe useless special election.

State Fair

training recently Harry D., sensational pacer of the S. H. Cowell stables, paced the mile in the fast time of 2.06 minutes.

Daily polo matches will be staged in the racetrack enclosure between four teams of crack players under the supervision of Will Tevis. Teams from Reno, Santa Barbara, San Mateo and Sacramento will probably enter.

Many County Exhibits

Fruits, grains, industries, minerals, scenic attractions and vegetables will feature the county exhibits, for which decorative booths have been erected. Despite the depression, between 30 and 40 countiles will be entered. Cash awards total $10,000 and $1200 worth of cups are offered counties. Different flowers will be displayed each day, and slogans are being devised for the booths.

For prizes amounting to $1000 drill teams representing California lodges, patriotic societies, clubs and auxiliaries will compete Sunday, September 6th, in front of the grandstand. Monday, September 7, Governor Rolph will pitch horseshoes against A. B. Miller of the State Fair Board to officially open the "barnyard golf" tournament. Champions from 55 clubs will compete for $1000 in prizes.

Livestock Awards $31,304

Cash premiums for cattle, swine and sheep this year total $31,304, divided as follows: Cattle, $22,735; swine, $4,526; sheep, $4,043. Early entries indicate the value of animals in the annual stock parade Governor's Day, September 10th will far exceed one million dollars.

Under the supervision of Julian A. McPhee and Howard F. Chappell of the state department of education, 500 high school agricultural students will be encamped this year at Camp Lillard, a semi-military camp school held annually in connection with the Fair. These boys, members of the Future Farmers of America, will enter livestock, poultry, horticultural and farm mechanics exhibits in competition for prizes totaling $3522. Cups, medals and ribbons will be awarded school teams judging exhibits. Fourteen high schools have entered farm mechanics displays.

$11,0000 School Awards

Schools from every part of the state are installing exceptional displays in the main grandstand building, as the educational hall was burned this spring, to compete for more than $11,0000 in cash awards. Cash prizes numbering 120 are offered for handiwork by Boy Scouts, Woodcraft Rangers, Camp Fire Girls and Girl Scouts.

More than 200 California artists, exceeding previous years in number, will have canvases hung in the Art Gallery, while in the same building displays of needlework, china painting, fancy work and home-cooked foodstuffs will compete for $1600 in prizes.

Iowa's 1931 Outlook Anything But Bright

IOWA CITY, Ia., Aug. 20—(UP—The University of Iowa, whose football team once conquered Yale and Notre Dame, hunted today for a pair of ends and a quarterback to bolster its 1931 team, which faces University of Pittsburgh in its opening game here Oct. 3.

Iowa, which has not entirely recovered from the mauling it received from the Big Ten eligibility committee in 1929, a defeat far worse than that ever administrated by a football foe, will face Pittsburgh with a scant two weeks of practice and no previous battle to test the team's merits.

Moreover, the Iowa team boasts little material to gladden the heart of Burton A. Ingwerson as he inaugurates his eighth season as head coach. The two wings are notoriously weak, there is no seasoned quarterback, and the backfield as a whole is a nebulous hypothesis in which no strength is seen this early

Pittsburgh, on the other hand, will come to Iowa City with nine of last year's regulars, three other letter men, and one game behind it.

The Iowa schedule this year also calls for games with Texas Aggies, George Washington at Washington, D. C., and Nebraska in addition to Big Ten games with Indiana, Minnesota, Purdue and Northwestern.

Wake Up Your Liver Bile —Without Calomel

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil, laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes these good old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resist a substitute.

MENLO PARK

The city council met in special session Tuesday evening, all the members being present except Anderson.

A letter was read from John W. Morey, secretary of the Menlo Park School District, stating that there were not funds available at this time to employ a traffic officer for the school. The communication was filed.

The residents of Stanford Park Annex in a lengthy petition protested against the issuance of a permit for the construction of a club house on lot 23 in that district. The petition was filed.

Two resolutions were adopted by the council in reference to the removing of weeds from vacant lots last spring. One approval of the report of superintendent of streets, and the other levied the assessment against each lot for the work done by the council.

The city attorney was directed to renew two insurance policies, one on the city's motorcycle, and the other for non-ownership liability.

Mr. Steffens, owner of the Public Amusement Enterprise, was granted a license to show here on September 8 to 13. The concern is to pay $100 for the permit.

The sum of $50 was alloted for making test holes through the city where street improvements are going on to drain the storm water.

The assessment diagram of the district comprising Pine street and kindred thoroughfares in that vicinity was approved by the council.

The sum of $75 was allocated to the county auditor's office for preparing an assessment record of Stanford Park for use in his office.

Frank Maloney and family have closed their home on Pine street and have rented a house on Page street San Francisco, where the family is to permanently reside. The oldest son Frank is enroll in the San Francisco College, while the two daughters are to enter high school. Mr. Maloney is one of Menlo's pioneers.

St. Joseph's Alumni Association will hold a food sale in the bank building on Santa Cruz avenue this morning at 10 o'clock. A fine selection of home made pies and cakes and other delicacies will be offered for sale at reasonable prices. The sales ladies will consist of the pretty members of the alumnae of St. Joseph's. Come early and secure your supply for there is to be a grand rush at the opening of the sale.

On September 3 Menlo Parlor N. S. G. W. will celebrate the thirty-ninth anniversary of its organization by giving a banquet at Cafe de Paris. All the old timers of the parlor are to be present to relate the early history of the organization and to tell of the incidents of bygone days and of the colorful times of the gay nineties. The affair is to be one long to be remembered by those who will attend.

J. C. Brown is making an addition to his residence on Santa Cruz avenue that is to be occupied by him as a store. He is to move his grocery from its present quarters in the Sutton building.

Frank Maloney, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Maloney, Pine street, Menlo Park, was recently awarded a scholarship at the University of San Francisco. Young Maloney is a promising baseball and football player and his friends believe he will star in these games at the San Francisco college.

The Menlo Park Masonic Temple Association elected Frank S. Becker as president on August 10. Other officers named were: vice-president, C. W. Palmer; treasurer, Mr. Doxsee; secretary, J. Ross Hardy. T. Bryan Hunnell was elected as the fifth member of the board of directors.

Preparations are being made by the owner of the Oak Grove Villa to transform the hotel into nine modern apartments to cost $12,000. These apartments would no doubt find ready rental. There is no rooming house in town, like the one contemplated and it would certainly be successful. The location is ideal. Tourists and others would seek these modern quarters that are to be offered at a reasonable rental.

Nicholas Whalen, now sojourning at San Jose, was injured there this week. The extent of his injuries is not known. Whalen is well known in Menlo Park.

Mrs. Elizabeth Boggini, nee Kirby, former principal of the Fremont grammar school, was given a shower at the home of Mrs. Whipple on Middle avenue on Wednesday. A visit of the stork is expected at the Boggini home in the near future.

Irving McKnight was taken to the Community hospital Monday suffering from a cancerous growth on his mouth. The ailment is not necessarily serious.

James Hoff's right leg was amputated at the Community Hospital this week. The other limb was amputated some time ago. An infection started on his foot while he was working at the base hospital some years ago and developed into a very serious condition. The recent operation will prolong his life. Mr. Hoff has suffered intensely, but he is manfully bearing up under his terrible affliction.

Officer Dyer returned yesterday from Arizona, where he went to bring home his two children, a son and daughter. Mr. Dyer drove in his automobile all the way and returned without the slightest mishap. During his absence his place on the police department was filled by Edward Farley, who wore the star with honor to himself and to the department.

It is said on good authority that the contract for surfacing the Bayshore highway from Redwood City to Willow road and grading from that thoroughfare to Palo Alto will be let very soon. Surveyors were working on both roads during the week.

ANCIENT INDIAN CANOE PRESENTED TO MUSEUM

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 20—(UP)—Nearly 200 years ago a sleek, redwood canoe went flashing down the blue-green waters of the Kalamath river, propelled by the sturdy strokes of Yurok Indian fishermen.

Today, that same canoe, weathered and scarred, rests in the Indian museum at the state capitol, the prize possession of B. W. Hathaway, curator.

The boat, representing one of the most valuable specimens of the state's remarkable collection of Indian relics, was only recently acquired. Collectors have sought in vain for years to get possession of the boat, but the Kalamath Indians have guarded its hiding place carefully.

The canoe finally was obtained at no cost to the state, by W. S. Waers, Eureka, a close friend of the Indians, and Hathaway, who is an adopted chief of the Miwok tribe.

Despite its age, the canoe still is well preserved. It is 18 feet long and four and one-half feet wide, with graceful lines that would satify the heart of the most exacting boat builder. There are no knots in the wood from which the boat was carved. A redwood log at least 20 feet long and eight feet in diameter.

"Boats like that are not made anymore," Hathaway said. "They were made according to strict religious dictates from one master pattern. All such boats were alike.

"It took the Indians approximately five years to complete such a craft. The proper tree had to be located and then seasoned. The log was then burned slightly and scraped, and the process repeated over and over until the boat took shape. The only tools used were crude flint 'diggers.'

"In the inside of the boat a slight hump was left on the bottom. This is the 'heart' of the boat. Without it, the Indians believe the boat to be dead and wouldn't think of riding in it."

Incidentally this boat capsized once when it was taken too far out into the ocean near what is now Crescent City. Because five Indians were drowned at that time—early in the 50's—the Indians believe it haunted and it has not been in use since then, having been hidden near Recqua for many years.

Mr. and Mrs. Ettore Avenali and family have returned to Woodside after a tour of Europe, lasting several months. Most of thir time abroad was spent in Italy and France.

The Woodside members of Sequoia Council, Girl Scouts, are taking an active part in preparation for the garden card party to be given by the Council on Wednesday, September 16, at the home of Mrs. Zobler on Selby lane, for the benefit of the Girl Scout organization.

Edward Wobber entertained the Downtown Association of San Francisco at an all day barbecue picnic at his home here on Wednesday.

The Woodside school opened its doors for the fall term on Monday with an initial registration of fifty-four.

Politically Speaking

By HOMER L. ROBERTS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 20—(UP)—It looks like open warfare between Governor Rolph and United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson, now that the governor has ousted Frank G. Snook from his motor vehicle job at Sacramento.

Snook was Johnson's man, and he has held office under Rolph thus far largely through the influence of the senator. The plan was to make Theodore Roche, San Francisco attorney and a law partner of Johnson, director of the newly-created state department of motor vehicles. This department supplanted the state division of motor vehicles of which Snook was head.

Roche refused to accept the job if it meant he had to fire Snook. So as a compromise it was agreed that E. Raymond Cato, superintendent of the California highway patrol, be made acting director of the department—until such time as Roche could be relieved from "the pressure of other duties."

In other words, Roche will stay out of the picture until the smoke blows over, after which he will probably take up the work as director.

The governor has not made a selection for the post of chief of the new division of registration, for which Snook was slated. He did indicate, however, that Will H. Marsh, former chief of the division of motor vehicles, was not being considered or the position.

Among other appointments announced were the following:

State Board of Prison Terms and Paroles — Charles L. Neumiller, Stockton, chairman, $7,000 a year; Joseph H. Stephens, Sacramento, $5,000 a year, and Frank C. Sykes, San Francisco, $5,000 a year. Sykes and Neumiller were members of the old state board of prison directors, which remains in existence but has no powers to fix sentences or grant paroles.

California Crime Commission—Charles W. Duellea, San Francisco captain of inspectors; Dr. Rufus von Kleinsmid, president of University of Southern California, Los Angeles; Superior Judge Thomas A. Norton, San Luis Obispo county; Attorney General U. S. Webb, and Daniel J. O'Brien, director of penology.

The new laws which went into effect August 14 gave the governor 12 new superior judges and four municipal judges to appoint in Los Angeles. He promoted five municipal judges to the superior bench as follows: Judges Charles Ballard, Charles Haas, Mrs. Georgia Bullock, Guy E. Bush and Henry Willis. That gave him just as many appointments to make as before, as he must now fill the municipal court vacancies.

HOLLYWOOD'S FILM SHOP

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 20 (UP)—At 60, Marie Dressler has more real vim, vigor and vitality than any 20-year-old, even if she does tip the scales at 180 pounds.

She spares neither time nor energy. She has endured all the hardships of old-time trouping and of a rough-and-tumble comedienne's existence. She has suffered many sorrows, and she still finds life immensely worth living.

Marie Dressler refuses to allow herself to think that she is growing old. She simply ignores the matter. There is no attempt at false youth. She is utterly free from the pathetic and tragic efforts which so many women make to keep a youngness which has left them. She is just herself, with the dignity of her calendar years and the spirit of a girl.

Miss Dressler can endure almost unbelieveable physical exertion in her pictures. She and Wallace Beery fought in "Min and Bill" for several days. When the director suggested that Marie be careful, she merely said:

"Don't worry about me. What do you think I am, an old woman?"

So she and Beery went on fighting, in and out and around a room. When they were breathless, they sat down and rested. Then they went back to the fray. How does she do it?

"There isn't any secret," she said. "The entire answer lies in regularity and taking care of yourself, mentally as well as prysically. There are only three really important things in life: health, happiness, and love. Be careful that you guard all three."

After Miss Dressler has finished a particularly strenuous period of activity, she goes to bed and stays there until her nervous force and vitality are rebuilt. She eats her meals in bed and reads and rests and completely relaxes.

Capitol Hides Two Crypts for Washingtons

Built at Request of President Monroe, But Never Used

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20—(UP)—Few of the thousands who annually visit the Capitol here realize that in the basement, under the dome of the structure, there are two vacant vaults, hewn out of rock, for George and Martha Washington.

The preparation of those two tombs and the reasons why they remain unoccupied are an interesting bit of the personal history of George Washington, which has been brought to light in preparation for the George Washington Bicentennial celebration in 1932.

When Washington died, historicans believed, there was no doubt in his mind that his body would be claimed as national property and suitably interred in a national monument.

"It is certain that Washington never gave even a hint of his views, or wishes, in regard to the disposition of his remains, except what is contained in his will," wrote George Washington Parke Custis, Washington's adopted son, in his "Recollections of Washington."

National Honors

"He, no doubt, believed that his ashes would be claimed as national property and entombed with national honors." Custic continues, "hence his silence on a subject that has agitated the American people since his death."

Custis remarks that "the high authorities of the nation begged his remains for public interment at the seat of national government." Part of a resolution passed by Congress read:

"Resolved by the Senate and the House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congrss assembled,

"That a marble monument be erected by the United States in the capitol, at the city of Washington, and that the family of General Washington be requested to permit his body to be deposited under it; and that the monument be so designed as to commemorate the great events of his military and political life."

President Adams followed Congress' instructions and received a reply from Martha Washington, saying that she had been "taught by the great example which I have so long had before me never to oppose my private wishes to the public will," and that she was willing to acquiesce regardless of the "sacrifice of individual feeling I must make to a sense of public duty." The only reservation Martha Washington made was that she should be entombed beside her husband.

Crypts Prepared

On the faith of this document President Monroe had two crypts constructed in the basement of the Capitol, under the dome. But the resolution of Congress was not carried out.

Aagain in 1832, at the Washington centennial, a movement was made by Congress to have Washington's remains moved to the Capitol, but this, too, was never carried out.

The need for a national tomb for Washington has been obviated, according to the Washington Bicentennial Commission, by "efforts of patriotic women who have forever preserved Mount Vernon as a national shrine."

Week at the State Capital

By MELMIN LORD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Aug. 20—(UP)—California schools are not faced with the problem of compulsory retrenchment.

This is the opinion of Vierling Kersey, state director of the department of education, who recently returned from a tour of the state.

"While it is evident that conditions make it necessary for us to get along with our present teaching staffs and equipment, California will not have to reduce their educational standards. The only change is that the educators may have to carry a little heavier 'load' this year," Kersey said.

All the way from England came a postal card this week from Mrs. C. C. Young, who is on a trip through Europe with former Governor Young and their two daughters.

The card was addressed to Roy Jennings, foreman of the carpenters at the state capitol. The postal, to Jennings' surprise, carried a picture of the Queen's hotel at Ambleside, Westmoreland, which is owned by his brother, James Jennings.

Mrs. Young knew that Jennings formerly lived in the famous lake district, one of the most picturesque sections of Northern England. When she passed through his old home town, she sent him the view, the first picture Jennings had seen of his brother's hotel.

Representing a continuation of the split over the state textbook question, Harry Hammond, state printer, charged the state board of education with "creating unemployment without good reason."

The charge was made when it became necessary for Hammond to lay off 45 employes of the state printng plant assertedly because the board delayed in placing orders for next year's supply of school textbooks.

MARRIAGE APPLICATIONS

The following applications for marriage licenses were issued in the office of County Clerk E. B. Hinman during the past week:

Chester L. Stuner, 31, Virginia Babcock, 21, both of San Francisco.

Edgar J. Elliott, 40, Elizabeth Hickey, 33, both of Daly City.

Mack Getz, 21, Georgia M. Farley, 18, both of San Mateo.

Cedric E. Planter, 28, Gladys W. Cotes, 21, both of San Francisco.

David T. Jones, 34, Ada E. F. Michell, 34, both of San Francisco.

William B. Andrews, 59, Carrie E. Orcutt, 63, both of San Bruno.

Robert S. Livingston, 32, Minneapolis, Minn, Sevetta L. Crucavich, 31, Alameda.

John T. Smith, 37, Sarah E. Emonot, 18, both of Redwood City.

Cecil L. Locke-Paddon, 26, Palo Alto, Lucy H. Morton 23, Manila, P. I.

Daniel J. Lenihan, 30, Ethel E. Dewlaney, 21, both of San Francisco.

Bennett E. Dickinson, 27, Katherine Fletcher, 22, both of Los Angeles.

Carmen Leon, 24, Gertrude Donner, 20, both of San Francisco.

Howard Piest, 22, Frances Bennett, 21, both of San Francisco.

Drug Addicts Now Called Vagrants

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 19—(UP)—Every drug addict in California, rich or poor, is now a vagrant in the eyes of the law.

Under an amendment to the penal code, which became effective this week, important changes were made in the definition of drug addicts who are vagrants.

The provision that such an addict must be one "who endangers public health, morals or safety" was removed, together with the provision that he must be "beyond the power of self-control."

As the law now stands, any person who habitually takes or uses narcotics, except when under a physician's care, is recognized as an addict, and as such, a vagrant. This subjects him to a fine up to $500, a jail sentence up to 6 months, or both fine and imprisonment.

California communities desiring assistance in controlling tuberculosis should call upon the state department of public health.

"We are anxious to help any community desiring to extend its activities in the solution of problems related to the control of tuberculosis," Dr. Giles S. Porter, director of the department, stated.

"Through our bureau of tuberculosis we can make diagnoses of tuberculosis in young people, help affected ones secure necessary treatment and assist in other ways in the fight to stamp out this disease."

Fatal Crash Causes Manslaughter Charge

Russell M. Currence, 22, formerly a city employee of San Mateo, was killed Wednesday night in an accident on the Bayshore road, near San Mateo. His car was struck by one driven by Frank C. Hansen, Saratoga, chauffeur for James A. Bacigalupi, president of the Bank of Ameriea. Riding with Hansen was Yen Lee, cook for Bacigalupi. Both men were badly cut in the wreck. Hansen is being held on a charge of manslaughter.

Cleaners Must Secure Surety Bond for $100

Cleaners and dyers are effected by a provision of the new state law which went into effect Friday to the effect that each establishment or agency which does cleaning, dying, spottng or pressing must secure an undertaking to the extent of $100 in favor of the people of the state of California and for the benefit of persons having dealings with the cleaning or dying establishment.

The new law provides that this undertaking must be secured at the same time a license is secured, and provides penalties in fines from $30 to $200 and imprisonment from 30 to 180 days for failure to secure the undertaking.
